Diversity & Inclusion

RELEASE DATE: APRIL 2017

2ND NEWSLETTER EDITION

MESSAGE FROM ASSOCIATE DEANS OF DIVERSITY

Greetings,

Welcome to our 2nd monthly newsletter edition. We thank everyone for the positive feedback regarding our first!

Please note that our office is participating in the hosting of two upcoming events. Come to celebrate and toast our 4th year graduates and recognize those who have worked to support diversity in our community at the Diversity Celebration May 17. And join in reflecting on where we are as a diverse community, where we want to go and what each of us has to contribute at the SPARC Diversity Retreat June 17.

Please see below for more information.

Also, Weill Cornell Medicine has started its faculty engagement survey. Please check for the email and respond to ensure that your voice is heard. It is completely anonymous. If you have not received an email then please let us know. We are hoping to have participation from all of our faculty. It takes only a few minutes to complete.

Kind Regards,

Linnie Golightly, M.D.

Rache Simmons, M.D.

RECENT NEWS

NYP/WCM Hunter College Mentoring Initiative

Marissa Lombardo, MD, a Hunter alum, resident, and Clinical Associate in Medicine is starting a new mentoring initiative with Hunter pre-medical undergraduate students. On March 9th, 2017, Dr. Lombardo, Elen Gusman (3rd year medical student), and Dr. Elizabeth Wilson Anstey, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs whom are also both Hunter alumni met with the pre-med advisor of Hunter College to discuss starting her initiative with Hunter students. Dr. Lombardo hosted her inaugural meeting on March 24th, 2017 with the first cohort.

Congratulations,
Dr. Lombardo!

Health Professions Recruitment and Exposure (HPREP) 2017 Graduation Ceremony

Wasi Imrose, Viva Painstil,
Leah Naraine, and Iqura Naheed

On Friday, March 17, 2017, 94 high school students successfully completed Health Professions Recruitment Exposure (HPREP) program this spring. Dr. Linnie Golightly was the keynote speaker and Dr. Dana Zappetti gave welcoming remarks to open the ceremony. Originally, this student-run program, HPREP, was created by the Weill Cornell Medicine Chapter of the Student National Medical Association (SNMA) to address the issue of the declining enrollment rates of underrepresented groups in medical school in 1989. As a result, HPREP officially graduated its first class in 1990. This ten week program held in spring semesters provides high school students with opportunities to engage in discussions with physicians where a wide range of medical issues are addressed. Students were able to attend several panels that featured a physical therapist, a healthcare consultant, a genetic counselor, and a researcher. In addition, these students gained insight into the college application process including how to write a research paper, applying for financial aid, and writing a personal statement. This year's HPREP coordinators: Jonathan Galati, Nicole Luche, Jae Seong No, Edwin Rosendo, and Iyan Younus offered direction for these high school students in writing their research papers, college essays, the common application.

Congratulations to the 2017 HPREP Graduates!

Grenada Visit: Live Healthy Me, Inc.

Live Healthy Me, Inc. an organization in the leadership of Dr. Carol McIntosh, F.A.C.O.G., O.B.E., who is has vast experience in women's health and gynecological issues spearheaded this five-day visit to Grenada. The organization was supported by the Ministry of Health and Social Security under the leadership of Hon. Minister Nikolas Steele. Dr. McIntosh was also accompanied by renowned Gynecologic Oncologist, Dr. Kevin Holcomb, F.A.C.O.G. who is the Director of the Gynecologic Oncology and Director of Minimally Invasive Surgery in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at New York Presbyterian Hospital. Dr. Holcomb along with other members of the health team performed surgeries on patients diagnosed with cancer and precancerous lesions. All surgeries were performed in St. Georges General Hospital (SGH). Dr. Holcomb also gave lectures on cervical cancer caused by Human Papillomavirus (HPV). Lectures were tailored to the audience, one addressed to medical professionals at SGH and one addressed to the community and staff at Blue Horizon Garden Resort. The team is expected to return to Grenada again on May 22nd-26th, 2017.

DIVERSITY SPOTLIGHT

Nicole Cruz, M.D. has been named the National Hispanic Medical Association (NHMA) Resident of the Year. Dr. Cruz is currently a senior resident in the Residency Training Program in Internal Medicine at the New York-Presbyterian Hospital-Weill Cornell Campus. She works with Dr. Monica Guzman of the Division of Hematology-Oncology, evaluating the expression level of CD123 in leukemic cells of AML patients to emphasize the relevance of the receptor as a potential CAR-T cell target. In addition, she serves as the Co-Chair of the Department in Medicine's House staff Committee promoting mentorship and works to strengthen diversity and community amongst peers. Dr. Cruz will begin her fellowship in Hematology-Oncology at Cornell in July 2017 and she will receive her honorary award at the NHMA National Meeting in Washington, D.C. in May 2017.

Congratulations, Dr. Cruz!

Anthony Watkins, M.D. was recently featured in #WeAreWCM campaign advertisements. Dr. Watkins is an Assistant Professor of Surgery and the Program Director of the General Surgery Residency Program. He shared his personal words in a Weill Cornell Medicine featured video: "Medicine is part of the DNA of who I am. But what I've found equally important is the human element, what drives me is this interest and desire to make a meaningful impact in people's lives."

Congratulations, Dr. Watkins!
